The following is another FDA policing job under the guise of protecting us (Operation Cure All). This blatant abuse of authority, of course, requires no evidence of injury and/or bodies, while the thousands of deaths from approved drugs and other medical procedures strangely keep going on and on. This inconsistently is hardly a concern for this agency - just look at the sloppy inconsistencies in the raid below - clearly this has more to do with the protecting their pharma cronies than us!

Please contact the FDA as per the post below and point out the these inconsistencies (the items in bold are not restricted and available freely elsewhere - so why the sweeping ban?). Please also ask for evidence of injury from the restricted products. Ask How they can afford to spend so many resources on Operation Cure All when there is so much work that needs to be done to reduce the huge known and prevalent toxic drug injuries?

The following message was sent to the Energetic Medicine listserv yesterday from Alpha Omega Labs. They are best known for their Cansema salve. It is an escherotic paste applied topically and guaranteed to cure skin cancer. Although it was rather expensive at $50 for less than an ounce, I have never heard of it failing for any case of skin cancer. -- turf

ACtion - Alpha Omega Labs

I tried to order some cansema (black salve) and H3O from Alpha omega Labs and got this reply:

We are unable to help you. We do not have the products and are unable to answer any questions at this time. Please read the letter listed below regarding our current situation and refer to our web site for any additional information on products.

At 9:10 a.m. on Wednesday, September 17th, 2003 the Federal Drug Administration (FDA) suspended most activities at our fulfillment center in Louisiana. They have deemed the above products questionable in the United States of America. They believe that our products are not safe for human consumption. The FDA is currently testing the products they have taken from our facility. They have accused us of making health claims for our products, such as claiming they could cure, prevent or treat a disease even though we have a disclaimer on almost every page and each product label stating: "To U.S. Users Only: The statements made on this page have not been evaluated by the U.S. Food & Drug Administration. The viewing of this page in your country is for historic and educational purposes only. This product is not intended to diagnose, treat, cure, or prevent any disease."

They have also arrested Greg Caton on gun charges. Greg's wife had bought a few guns before Y2K for protection. These guns are in her name, kept in a closet for protection, however, Greg is now in jail for having fire arms in their home.

After Greg is released from jail, we will have to battle the FDA in court in hopes of obtaining our freedom and right for self healing. If you would like to help in our fight, please write to us at support@altcancer.com. We would appreciate if you would contact your local congressman to help in the amendment of the current laws which prevent you from obtaining the alternative health products that Alpha Omega and other companies offer.

You can also contact the U.S. Food and Drug Administration to petition the FDA by using the contact numbers below:
